Speed Mania
Claims One
More Victim.
Glendale's
Remarkable
Building Rate

ANOTHER victim has paid toll to the speed mania, a Los Angeles man being killed in collision with an automobile containing local residents on their way home from attending the Wayfarer pageant in Los Angeles. According to the report of the Glendale police the accident was caused through the excessive speed of the colliding car, which was a rented one.

IF this report proves to be true the extreme penalty should be meted out to the offender. If the courts would not be so lenient on the flagrant offenders there would be fewer accidents.

THE driver who hurls his car through city streets at an excessive speed should be punished if caught. Too much attention has been paid to the slight infractions of the laws, caused only through lack of knowledge of the offender. We are not in accord with those who favor the speed traps.

WE are of the opinion that with traffic officers patrolling the highways, speeding will be held in check considerably more than it has been with the officers out of sight but timing the measured trap. We admit that the income derived from speed arrests will be materially reduced but we can better afford the loss of this money than the loss of the lives of our citizens. The courts will not be so busy and can turn their attention towards the clearing of the docket of other cases. Speed cases have caused considerable congestion and this relief will be welcomed.

IN a survey report of building activities for the month of August in twenty California cities we learn that Glendale stands sixth in the list. This puts our city in a class with those as much as four times her size.

Los Angeles of course stands first, with San Francisco, Sacramento, Oakland, Long Beach following in order, these five leading Glendale.

Such cities as Pasadena, San Diego, Berkeley, Santa Monica and Fresno are below us in standing. This showing is indeed remarkable, more so in the fact that according to the last census Glendale was the sixteenth city in size of the twenty enumerated. Figures are not available as to the population of the other cities, for Glendale 42,000 is conservative. The most notable part of Glendale's growth is the fact that everything has practically gone ahead at the same ratio.

SEVEN U. S. DESTROYERS WRECKED ON ROCKS

Midnight Collision Wrecks Two Autos, One Man Killed in Crash

STRANGEST DISASTER TO THE AMERICAN NAVY IN ALL OF ITS HISTORY

Seven Magnificent Destroyers, Pride of Navy, Go on Jagged Rocks Near Santa Barbara and 21 Brave Tars Find Watery Graves

MANY DEEDS OF HEROISM ARE ENACTED

Mail Steamer Cuba Also Goes Down and Is Total Loss; Money Value of Wrecked Vessels and Effects Estimated at $12,000,000

The wildest dreams of the most reckless romancer could hardly have envisioned a scene like that which took place off the Santa Barbara coast early Saturday morning. The Pacific Mail liner Cuba went aground on San Miguel island and four hours later seven United States destroyers rushing to her rescue went aground in a dense fog which suddenly shut down over the scene, on the jagged rocks of La Honda, the "grave of ships."

The destroyers were traveling in line formation with the Delphy leading the column. Orders for the squadron formation and speed were given from the Delphy.

ADMISSION DAY GIVES POLICE LITTLE RESPIRE

Admission day provided no respite for the police department, and officers were on duty there this morning, though all other departments of the city government were closed. Indeed, the chief calls upon the station were to answer telephone calls to ascertain why the public could not get in touch with other departments.

The blotter showed quite a list of complaints. Mr. Allison, of the auto camp on San Fernando road, reported the theft of $325 in cash from his store, and his suspicions that some camper was the thief. Cecil Semler, a workman now employed at the new high school, was attacked and cut with a knife by a Mexican fellow workman and will lodge a formal complaint against his assailant.

George Coffey, of Delta, Colo., who arrived in Los Angeles Saturday night looking for Elmer Green Coffey, failed to find him in that city and was told he had moved to Glendale. He arrived here late at night and was given the hospitality of a bed in the jail until he could pursue his inquiries this morning.

The theft of an auto, a new Packard single six sedan, royal blue body, was reported at 9:15 p. m. Sunday by R. A. Jud Sheppard of 407 South Central.

In the early morning hours today, at 4:15, a call was received at police headquarters complaining of disturbance of the peace in front of 532 Patterson avenue. Officers sent to investigate found a party of six rioters, apparently in a state of intoxication, one of them a young woman. All were arrested and placed in the city jail, the woman being turned over to the police matron. They will have a hearing Tuesday morning. All were from Los Angeles.

SINGING MAYOR OF GLENDALE IS EXCURSION HERO

Glendale's singing mayor, Spencer Robinson, who is a member of the Los Angeles chamber of commerce excursionists in Mexico, is carrying out very well the Glendale Chamber of Commerce program of advertising this city. In fact, it is said that he has become the prince of the L. A. C. of C. party and the marvel of the Mexicans. Mayor Robinson is to meet Adolfo de la Huerta, secretary of the treasury in the Obregon cabinet, who is said to be the singing cabinet member. De la Huerta has a tenor voice and they will sign a compact for duet singing.

GLENDALE CHAPTER RED CROSS QUOTA FALLING BEHIND

Only Forty Per Cent Now Raised, According to Present Reports

Collections made by the Glendale Chapter, American Red Cross for Japanese earthquake sufferers up to Saturday night totaled $1321, and collections which were to be made by some of the churches were expected to swell the total. Tuesday morning, when the banks open again, members of the chapter will be on hand at the tables assigned them to receive additional subscriptions.

Mrs. Bartlett, chairman of the chapter, is well pleased with the response thus far. Mr. Kuranaga, the Japanese merchant, is much touched by the generous spirit America is exhibiting toward stricken Japan and says it will do much to heal the misunderstandings that have existed between the two countries.

Elder Munson, Chaplain of the Glendale Sanitorium, states that his denomination has a staff of eight missionaries not counting agency funds scattered in various parts of the empire where stations have been established, and thus far no word has come from any of them, so their fate is uncertain.

In the absence of any other agency to handle the matter, the Seventh Day Adventists will put their contributions in the hands of Red Cross of which they have always been loyal supporters.

Mrs. Bartlett is asking local business houses to aid the chapter by taking up subscriptions among employees and turning them in to the chapter. The Glendale Press secured $25.

This policy will immeasurably aid the Red Cross workers and should be adopted by every piece of business in the city that the money may be available with the least possible loss of time. Time is the essence of the relief program right now.

LOS FELIZ BLVD. CITIZENS EXPECT EARLY DECISION

Attorney Wende states he expects a decision of court within the next ten days on the demurrer he filed as attorney for the members of the Los Feliz Boulevard Taxpayers' Protective Association, who were sued on claims said to be delinquent by Steddon & Blanchard with heavy costs and penalties. He believes the case is already won as the court has ruled that Steddon & Blanchard are not entitled to any fees or costs whatsoever.

Certain bank representatives, R. F. Kitterman, D. H. Smith and A. R. Eastman, offered Steddon & Blanchard $200 for claims held by them against other taxpayers on which suit had not been brought, in order to protect bank clients, but the attorneys refused.

It now seems likely, Mr. Wende says, that the association will develop into a general Tax Payers' Protective Association which will endeavor to ascertain what pieces of property have been sold on assessments of this character without knowledge of the owners, and thus give them opportunity to redeem before a deed shall have been issued. He declares a lot of fraud has been practiced by serving notices on persons who had no interest whatever in the property involved, leaving the real owners in ignorance and to that extent helpless to protect themselves.

POLICEMAN SENT TO KILL DOG THAT ACTED AS IF MAD

This morning Desk Sergeant Cole was advised by phone that a dog which answered the description of the one which attacked and lacerated a child in Sycamore Canyon a few days ago was at a certain address on Palmer avenue and behaving in a strange manner, running around in circles. One of the patrolmen was delegated to answer the call and shoot the dog. The patrolman did not hit it in the head, which will be needed for examination by the Pasteur laboratory.

COMMINGLING JOY AND SORROW IN SAN DIEGO

Trains Bearing Survivors of Naval Disaster Met by Throngs

San Diego shared in the grief of the navy yesterday. The survivors of the seven wrecked destroyers were brought to the southern city during the night and were met by throngs of anxious people. A Glendale Daily Press reporter, vacationing in San Diego, witnessed the arrival of the survivors and of the remaining vessels of the destroyer fleet.

Shortly after 4 yesterday afternoon the destroyers rounded Point Loma and entered San Diego bay. From the strand between North Island and Coronado, the entire fleet was plainly seen, in spite of the heavy fog and low clouds that enshrouded the harbor. One by one the destroyers rounded the point and put into the bay. Coming to anchor in the northern end of the harbor, preparations were made to give shore leave to the crew.

By dark San Diego was swarming with sailors, members of the crew of the destroyers that escaped death or injury. Tales of the fate of the wrecked vessels were strikingly told by the sailors, who, because of the danger to their own ships, were prevented from aiding the distressed destroyers, nevertheless witnessed parts of the great tragedy.

At 1:30 this morning the first trainload of survivors from the ill-fated destroyers arrived over the Santa Fe. From the window of the Pullman, waiting to depart for Los Angeles at 2 o'clock, the arrival of the sailors was seen and heard. Long before the train was due throngs crowded the station, awaiting their arrival. When the special pulled in and the white-jacketed sailors got off the cars, it was a never-to-be-forgotten scene. The men, weak from the exertion and loss of sleep, some of them hurt in their fight to gain the shore, presented a pathetic appearance. Mothers, wives, sweethearts and friends rushed from the platform in search of their loved ones. With tears in their eyes and some of them sobbing, they met the boys. At 2:30 Dr. Johnson reported the death of Armstrong.

Dr. Moore was uninjured. Mrs. Snyder was treated for cuts on an arm and leg. Mr. Carre for scalp wounds, and Mrs. Carre was bruised on the limbs.

In the meantime, the driver of the other car was not to be found, but investigation by the police showed that the car had been rented, and on tracing the matter it was learned that it had been leased by G. D. Radinbaugh. When sought at his address he could not be located, nor any information learned concerning him, but Sunday afternoon he showed up at the Glendale station to report the accident and tried to make it appear that he was not driving. Officers showed him that the evidence proved conclusively that Armstrong was not at the wheel, and he then broke down and made a complete confession. Nothing had been ascertained in regard to Armstrong at police headquarters this morning. Radinbaugh, according to the police, admitted he was driving at 35 to 40 miles an hour.

SEE UNCLE SAM'S NAVY IN PICTURES AT H. S. TONIGHT

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock the people of Glendale will be given an opportunity of becoming more familiar with the work of Uncle Sam's navy by means of a motion picture program to be put on in the high school auditorium under the direction of the navy department. Chief Quartermaster Kam Ratke has arranged for the entertainment which will be in charge of Recruiting Officer M. S. Hawks.

In addition to the 5,000 feet of film that will be shown by L. M. Brooks, chief electrician and operator, there will be a program of local talent. The films will include "Our Navy in Action," covering the life of a "tar" during wartime; "Our Navy in the Near East," covering the work done by the navy during times of peace; and "The Panama Canal from an Aeroplane," which is very interesting and educational. The purpose of the entertainment is to educate the public as to the work being done by the navy and also to stimulate interest in recruiting.

MUSIC CLUB DIRECTORS MEET TUESDAY NIGHT

A meeting of the board of directors of the Glendale Music club will be held Tuesday night at the home of the president, Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, on Kenneth road.

SPEED MANIA CLAIMS ANOTHER LIFE WHEN MACHINES CRASH

James Armstrong, 26, of Los Angeles, Is Fatally Injured When Auto in Which He Is Passenger Strikes Another Car at Crossing

G. D. RADINBAUGH WAS GUILTY DRIVER

Speeding on Central Avenue When Car of Dr. B. F. Moore Collided with It at Lexington; Radinbaugh Escapes but Passenger Killed

As a result of flagrant violation of speed laws, according to statement made by the Glendale police department, another life was sacrificed Saturday evening at midnight in the course of what was supposed to be a joy ride. James Armstrong of 632 East 35th place, Los Angeles, is dead and the man who was driving the automobile in which Armstrong was riding, G. D. Radinbaugh of 879 East 43rd street, is under arrest at the city hall pending an examination before the coroner's jury tomorrow at 11 a. m., which may bring him before the superior court to answer a charge of manslaughter.

Dr. B. F. Moore and his aunt, Mrs. Cora Snyder, of 1057 Raymond avenue, Glendale, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. W. Carre of 617 West Milford, were returning in the doctor's car from attendance on "The Wayfarer" and were driving west on Lexington at 12:02 Sunday morning. As they attempted to cross Central avenue they were struck by the car containing Radinbaugh and Armstrong, which, in Mr. Carre's opinion, was traveling at a high rate of speed. Their car was thrown against a fire hydrant, which was broken by the impact and deluged them with water, the car being completely wrecked. Armstrong, in the Hudson car, was thrown out and pinned between the auto and a tree.

All the victims were taken to the Glendale sanitarium for treatment by the Jewel City ambulance, and Dr. Johnson reported the death of Armstrong.

Dr. Moore was uninjured. Mrs. Snyder was treated for cuts on an arm and leg. Mr. Carre for scalp wounds, and Mrs. Carre was bruised on the limbs.

In the meantime, the driver of the other car was not to be found, but investigation by the police showed that the car had been rented, and on tracing the matter it was learned that it had been leased by G. D. Radinbaugh. When sought at his address he could not be located, nor any information learned concerning him, but Sunday afternoon he showed up at the Glendale station to report the accident and tried to make it appear that he was not driving. Officers showed him that the evidence proved conclusively that Armstrong was not at the wheel, and he then broke down and made a complete confession. Nothing had been ascertained in regard to Armstrong at police headquarters this morning. Radinbaugh, according to the police, admitted he was driving at 35 to 40 miles an hour.

In commenting on the case this morning, Chief Fraser declared this is one of the few cases that have a fatal result as against many miraculous escapes. He wonders that more lives are not lost because of reckless driving.

Radinbaugh was guilty of a felony in leaving without attempting to render aid, he declared, and he believes he will be held to answer for manslaughter as a result of the testimony to be introduced before the coroner's jury tomorrow. He refused to release him on bail because of the strong evidence against him.

According to information received from the Jewel City Undertaking company, Mr. Armstrong is survived by his parents and two brothers and a sister, with whom he resided at 682 East Thirty-fifth street, Los Angeles. He was 26 years of age. Inquest will be held at 9:30 o'clock Tuesday morning at the parlors of the Jewel City Undertaking company.

RENEWED QUAKES FELT IN JAPAN

No Lives Lost, However, and Relief Work Not Hindered

[By Associated Press]

TOKIO, Sept. 10.—Sharp earthquake shocks again last night aroused considerable nervousness, but did not interfere with the work of reconstruction which the end of the first week of Japan's disaster shows to be well under way.

The cabinet is co-operating in every way with business men and the military in the work of rehabilitation. New plans of the government look to the prevention of such wide-spread destruction in the event of another terrific earthquake. The plans were not made public but are known to include provision for fireproof and quake-proof buildings and avoidance of congestion.

For the better administration of relief and reconstruction the military staff has been divided between Tokio and Osaka.

Tokio banks have resumed small payments. Tokio and Osaka are now linked by fast boats and trains are running again between Tokio and Yokohama.

Admiral Anderson, commander of the Asiatic fleet of the United States navy, is now in Tokio. The people are displaying their gratitude for the prompt assistance given by Americans and Great Britain.

DAVID DONWELL HELD IN CHICAGO

Telegraphic dispatches received today from Chicago state that David Donwell, who conducted the Little Premium Market on North Glendale avenue and disappeared August 7, leaving a large number of creditors behind, after sacrificing real estate and securities to obtain $20,000, is being held in Chicago by federal agents. With him when arrested was Nettie C. Donwell, alias Nettie Brown, who had motored with him from California in an expensive automobile which is also being held by the authorities. The roads leading into Chicago are likewise being guarded to intercept two other cars which it is said Donwell gave to two women before leaving California and which are believed to be following him. Nettie C. Donwell was associated with him in business here and active in waiting upon his customers, and it is supposed she is the woman referred to in the dispatches.

The third annual picnic party of Mary Jane Gillett tent No. 18, Daughters of Veterans, and N. E. Banks camp No. 22, Sons of Veterans, was held at Brookside Park, Pasadena. The attendance was not quite so large as in former years on account of the fact that many members are still out of town on their vacations. PARLIAMENTARY LAW STUDY CLUB WINDS UP TERM

At a pleasant summer termination meeting of the Parliamentary Law Study club, at the public library Friday, announcement was made that the new class will open on October 5. The meeting was opened by Mrs. C. H. Whitney, ruling president, who turned it over to Mrs. A. H. Brown, chairman of the day, after a few well chosen words of appreciation for the cooperation of each of the club members. Before discussing the plans for future work and entertainment, the ladies joined in putting through a motion expressing their cooperative appreciation for the opportunity to study under their efficient instructor, Mrs. Opal Greenwalt, and thanking each of their former presidents. Best wishes were offered for the new class, and a hearty vote of thanks was taken for the assistance of the Glendale Press in keeping their news and notices before the public.

Those present decided to have an informal social affair at the home of Mrs. Claude Putnam, 424 North Glendale, next Friday afternoon. Friends of the club members will be invited, and extensive plans are made for this first social affair.

The Parliamentary Law club was organized early last June. Mrs. D. W. Gleason of Los Angeles inserted a notice in the paper which brought ten ladies to the first meeting. The number soon grew to 30. Studying from Gleason's Parliamentary Law book, written by Mrs. D. W. Gleason of Los Angeles, the members take up the following subjects: Classified motions, unclassified motions, subsidiary motions, and main incidental motions.

Outgoing officers are: Mrs. C. H. Whitney, president; Mrs. Opal Greenwalt, teacher; Mrs. A. H. Brown, manager; Mrs. Bennell, secretary; Mrs. Phillips, social chairman; Mrs. Pease, membership chairman; Mrs. Amy L. Hjorth, press chairman and Mrs. Spalding, sargeant at arms.

'CONQUERORS' IS SERMON THEME OF REV. MILLIKAN

"Conquerors Through Jesus Christ" was the subject of Rev. L. J. Millikan's sermon at the Broadway Methodist church, yesterday. Taking for his text Romans 8:37 he delivered one of the strongest sermons ever heard by a Glendale audience. He paid his respects to modern sins, and urged his hearers to arouse themselves to their duty and privilege. He said in part:

"All the world admires a conqueror, for to become a conqueror one must fight; also he must be enthused and in dead earnest over the object for which he fights. Alexander the Great attained fame as a conqueror by zeal and devotion to a selfish cause, while Napoleon possessed such a wonderful military personality it was said of him that his men claimed to feel his presence even a mile away. But a greater conqueror than either Alexander or Napoleon was the Apostle Paul, for he mastered himself and his environment. He boldly declares we are more than conquerors through Him that loved us. His fight was for righteousness over sin, and not selfishness over justice, as has been the case with most conquerors of fame. None of Paul's victories were prompted by some selfish desire."

"The spirit of righteousness and justice should completely possess the lives of christian men, and the church of Jesus Christ ought to make it absolutely impossible for nations to go to war. Every unprincipled politician, and every greedy newspaper, that clamors for, or advocates war, are menaces to civilization. They should be slung to glory to God in the Highest, and on Earth Peace, Goodwill Toward Men."

To become a conqueror there is much to be learned and strength to float, or simply drift down stream, but it requires a strong man to swim up stream. Energy and strength are required to build, and the only true source is the gospel, for it is the power of God unto salvation. There are all too many modern sins that we as christians are condoning; one of the greatest is the divorce. Every divorcee remarries while their former wife or husband is alive in living in the sin of adultery, and is flagrantly violating God's holy law. The bootlegger, and all his ilk, should be condemned as foes to our civilization, but these curses could not exist if there were no customers to buy their vile stuff. It is reported that there are numbers of the police force in Los Angeles, and even some in the sheriff's office—all guardians of our laws, who have been guilty of accepting bribe money from these law violators, and in return give them protection in carrying on their nefarious business. How long will decent men and women tolerate such conditions? They exist only because we permit it. It is the duty of the church of Jesus Christ to create a sentiment so strong, so pure, so God-like, that it will be impossible for a single one of these enemies to exist. Christianity in motion means the tearing down of all these strongholds of Satan, and building in their stead altars to the Eternal God. To successfully fight the devil we must get acquainted with his friends, and they are all trickers. Let us abhor the theory that because a man has been a big sinner he can be a better Christian. Only the blood of Jesus Christ on our souls, purging us from sin, can make us true conquerors."

W. D. Root, Glendale Educator, Who Spent Three Years in Japan as Teacher in a Prefectural Commercial School Tells of Mt. Fuji

VOLCANO RISES 12,000 FEET ABOVE PLAIN

Its Summit, Crowned With Eternal Snow, is an Object of Superstitious Fear by All Japanese Not Enlightened by Christian Teaching

W. D. Root, 1360 East Maple, who spent the time between the years 1902 and 1905 in Japan, has written for the Glendale Daily Press a highly interesting and enlightening article on Japan. His own story of his travels about the country now suffering from the great quake, especially a visit to Mt. Fuji, and the manner in which he details the continual apprehension of the Japanese of earthquake catastrophes, gives the public a real insight into the conditions that have existed in Japan for ages. Mr. Root's article follows:

"Exactly twenty-one years before the recent terrible earthquake in Eastern Japan, a party of five of us made a three days' trip up Mt. Fuji from Lake Hakone. There were three Y. M. C. A. secretaries, Galen Fisher, Verling Helm and George Gleason, accompanied by Dr. Albrecht of the Congregational Doshisha college in Kyoto, and myself, a teacher in a prefectural commercial school on Lake Biwa.

"Partly through heavy rain we made our way over the Otome pass, across the Tokaido railway at Gokemba, and on up to Subashiri, a village on the lower eastern slope of Mt. Fuji where all night at the Japanese inn we heard the torrential rain. All next day under a canopy of cloud we trudged up Fujiyama, arriving on the summit at 6 p. m., to see a gorgeous sunset but no sight of the land and ocean over 12,000 feet below. The light air gave us headaches and though it was the end of August the chill air made blankets necessary as we slept in a cave near the crater crest.

"Many make the whole arduous climb and see only clouds to repay them, but we rose at 5 a. m. and found that the heavy rain had cleared the air and at sunrise we had a view the magnificence of which can hardly be described. Lakes, other mountains, bays, and headlands stood out like cameos.

"Thirteen Japanese provinces can be seen from the summit of Fujiyama. One hundred miles north as the crow flies stood Mt. Asama in the heart of Honshu, with the smoke rolling up majestically some ten miles from the great foreign summer resort of Karuzawa.

"South of us we saw the rain-washed sand of the crescent of Suruga bay. The rugged Izu peninsula was revealed clearly as an arrow-head. Off southeast 70 miles from us stood away the volcanic island of Oshima, that reports now tell us has been submerged. Small but visible was the beauty spot of Enoshima that has also disappeared under the waves.

"It was on Enoshima New Years week 1904 that a picnic party of twenty Americans included Miss Smart, now Mrs. Root, a temperance missionary to Japan. On the return at dark in the Tokyo union station she entered a jinnikisha which a few minutes later hurled her accidentally into a rocky sea canal that cost her health and almost life.

"Looking east from Fuji's rim we gazed at the long stretch of Tokyo bay lined with Yokohama, Yokosuka, the great naval station, Tokyo, and smaller cities. Down west tumbled the Fujikawa (Fuji river) in the flood waters of which we had traveled sixty miles in a boat from near Kofu to the sea the same month.

'GOD'S BUILDING' WAS THEME OF REV. TINNING

At the Glendale Presbyterian church yesterday morning, the assistant pastor, Rev. Louis Tinning, spoke on "God's Building." He said that God's word uses many figures to convey truth. Christ is the head, the church is His body; Christ is the husband, the church is His bride; He is the vine, we are the branches. Christ and his followers are spoken of as a city, a family and a flock. But a wonderful metaphor is here, "Ye are God's building."

Here the architect is God. He made the world and later came to it to dwell here in the person of His son. When we consider this world and all the host of heaven, how wonderful are they. But greatest of all is the far grander building referred to in this text. The plan is different than that of any other building. It is four-squared and suggests the perfection of order and stability and completion. The plan of men's buildings depends on circumstances and they may need repair or additions. God's building is begun and completed on a perfect plan. It is never changed, for it is complete.

Two kinds of material are used in the construction. One is supremely good, the other supremely bad. Paul says, "Jesus Christ Himself being the corner stone," and Peter adds, "Ye also as living stones are built up a spiritual house." God's own Son is the foundation, and then we look with wonder and gratitude on the material of the superstructure. The living stones may shrink and cry out at the heavy and constant blows, but the work goes steadily on till all that is suitable has been removed, and the precise pattern of the wise Master Builder for each particular part has been reproduced.

How shall we measure the magnitude of this wonderful building? The temple was 46 years in building. Five hundred years sufficed to erect the cathedrals of Milan or Cologne. Geologists say that the earth was under construction millions of years as an abode for man. Consider the women God employs, the Holy Spirit, hosts of angels, myriads of human hands. The old theologians said that all the stars in their courses and all the ages in their revolutions had as their prime object the furtherance of God's scheme of redemption. Man has no adequate unit of measurement.

No ordinary purpose will correspond to such unusual preparations. The palace suggests a king. A temple suggests God. The Lord Himself hath chosen this building for His own abode. From all eternity He has been ordering all things for this purpose. The best use which can possibly be made of any building is to set it apart for the occupancy of God. So our redeemed bodies and regenerated characters are structures far too grand to be appropriated exclusively for our own use. Let us present them a living sacrifice to Him and deem ourselves happy if He will deign to occupy what His grace alone can render meet for such a royal guest.

pranks I asked them to hurry by two to the street. I was with them, stepping lively.

"In spite of all a stranger reads or hears about Japan when he deeply lands there six things strike him to his consciousness.

"The Japanese are the most polite people on earth. Americans are almost too busy to be courteous and as children we too often are not bred that way.

"The Japanese are the greatest bathers in the world. From the innumerable hot springs that dot the mountains to the countless bays of their islands, all classes have a passion for soaking in the water.

"The rain impresses the Californian. Twelve months the rain may fall, light or heavy, by the hour, by the day, and sometimes by the week. In July and August, however, the sky simply gets discouraged and dumps the water without measure.

"As a consequence the stranger, especially one who knows brown, dry hillsides, is gratified at the ever verdant scenes—green, green, everywhere.

"Again those who know American plains do not find them in Japan. Mountains, hills, crags, inlets—what valley there are must be small.

"Last of all the earthquakes take hold of the newcomer. Basil Hall Chamberlain, once a professor in the Imperial University of Japan, wrote, 'The European's terror of earthquakes grows with length of residence in an earthquake-shaken land, such as Japan has been from time immemorial.'

"However, I believe many old-timers have learned the 'Shikata ga nai' (It can't be helped) motto of the Japanese stoic.

"The people of Japan are patriotic, organized, and civilized and are as sure of rebuilding their ruined cities as was San Francisco. Though they are rivals of America and the Japanese question in California is a very live one, yet in the dreadful calamity that has befallen the Japanese we will extend to them the spirit of sympathy that one brave people should extend to one equally brave in such a crisis, and just as the people of Japan forwarded help to San Francisco in 1906, so will America in a greater measure help in Japan's greater calamity."

OUT OF MOUTHS OF BABES

"Vernon," said the teacher of the juvenile class, "define 'ostentation.'"

"It's the way our neighbors show off," answered Vernon.

"CHRISTIAN'S 'CONFESSION' KRINGEL THEME

The sermon-topic chosen by the Rev. Henry O. Kringel at the Sunday morning service of the Concordia Lutheran congregation was taken from the gospel of St. John 1, 19-28: "A Christian's Confession."

The speaker said in part: In those days when John the Baptist preached in the wilderness the longing and waiting for the promised Messiah had reached its highest pitch in Israel. They expected the Messiah. When, therefore, John arose and deposed himself like an ancient prophet, living the life of a hermit in the wilderness, clothed in camel's hair, feeding on locusts and wild honey and preaching with a great power that the kingdom of heaven was nigh at hand, the whole country round about was wild with excitement. We are told that Jerusalem, and all Judea, and all the region round about Jordan went out to him. The people heard his mighty sermons, bidding them to repent of their sins. They were baptized and confessed their wrongs. Day by day the conviction grew that John must be the very Christ himself.

Even the church crowd, composed of seventy-one men, became alarmed. So it sent to John a delegation consisting of priests and Levites to ask him formally whether he himself laid claim of being the promised Messiah.

John disclaimed all honor. He confessed, "I am not the Christ," and referring to Jesus, he said: "He it is, who coming after me is preferred before me!" This was a model confession concerning Jesus, to be imitated by every Christian.

With the Christian's testimony Christ should be made known and honored among men. Now, it is a historical fact that there was a man living in the land of Judea 1900 years ago, whose name was Jesus. No sane person will deny that. He was a true man. But this is what some people will not believe that this despised man Jesus, who was laid in the manger, who had no where to lay His head, who shamefully died on the cross, should be the Lord of glory, the true and everlasting God. This is what a Christian must confess, that this humble man is true God, that Jesus came into the world to redeem us from sin and death through His innocent suffering and painful death on the cross, and that we are saved by faith in Christ Jesus.

These are the two principal points of dispute, Christ's divinity and His redemption. A model Christian must confess and declare openly before all men that Jesus is more than mortal man, more than an angel and archangel, that He is Jehovah, the Lord, the true and everlasting God. This is what a Christian must confess, that this humble man is true God, that Jesus came into the world to redeem us from sin and death through His innocent suffering and painful death on the cross, and that we are saved by faith in Christ Jesus.

This is the principal part of our Christian confession before the world that we assert and defend Christ's divinity. Then we must also declare the truth of His miracles, of His resurrection and ascension into Heaven. His enthronement at the right hand of God the Father Almighty and His coming to judge the quick and the dead.

We must confess our faith that there is no salvation in any other, that there is none other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved, "but the sweet name of Jesus."

We must confess, how in Him we found forgiveness of sins, peace with God, life and salvation, and thus bear witness unto the world that the Christian faith is not a delusion, but a real and precious thing, a thing which will make man truly happy both in this life and in the world to come.

Christ says: "Whosoever shall confess Me before men, him will I also confess before My Father which is in heaven. But whosoever shall deny Me before men, him will I also deny before My Father, which is in heaven."

Let us fearlessly confess our Divine Lord, like John the Baptist did. And when the storm of life is passed and our confession is ended, we shall see in our beloved Savior, Jesus, an advocate with the Father, saying unto Him, Let all who have confessed Me, and endured to the end, enter into the eternal glory.

"A vehicle with three wheels is called a tricycle, and one with two wheels is a bicycle," said the teacher. "Now, Edgar, what would you call a vehicle with one wheel?"

"A wheelbarrow," promptly answered the little fellow.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Corporation takes this opportunity to announce officially to the citizens of Glendale and the surrounding community, that a ninety-eight year lease has been negotiated for a nine acre site on the San Fernando Boulevard, at the foot of Colorado Street, in the industrial section of Glendale, for the location of their $300,000 Motor Truck Plant.

That a contract was awarded, on September 1st, 1923, to the AUSTIN COMPANY OF CALIFORNIA, of Los Angeles, for the immediate construction of the FIRST UNIT of this plant. This unit, the first of a battery of three, will be 400 feet long, facing the San Fernando Boulevard, and 70 feet wide; it will be absolutely fireproof, constructed of steel, glass and brick, and will cost when ready for occupancy approximately $70,000.00, and when fully equipped and ready for production will represent an outlay in excess of $100,000.00. The detailed plans for this building are now being prepared by the AUSTIN COMPANY, and as soon as they are approved by our Engineering Department, and the proper permit for its construction issued by the City of Los Angeles, the actual work of construction will be commenced, this date, we are assured by the AUSTIN COMPANY, will not be later than October 10th, 1923.

That the construction of the other two units of our Plant, of equal size and capacity, will be commenced immediately after the first unit is completed, equipped and ready for production.

That each unit of our Plant will give employment to approximately two hundred high grade mechanics, some of whom we expect to import, with their families, from the automobile centers of the Middle West, although it will be the policy of the Company to first give employment to competent men, who are residents of Glendale and our surrounding community.

That at this time the Corporation wishes to publicly thank our efficient Chamber of Commerce, its Officers and Directors, for their untiring efforts and unfailing courtesy shown our officials at the time we were investigating the numerous locations which we had been offered in Southern California, and also for the cordial invitation and promise of hearty cooperation so graciously extended to us at that time.

That it is the earnest desire of everyone connected with the Corporation, its Directorate and Officers to make this Company, the first and foremost Motor Truck Plant on the Pacific Coast; one that all Glendalians can point to with pride and satisfaction; that it will take its place among the other business institutions of the "JEWEL CITY," and will do more than its share toward the upbuilding of our fair City, by giving employment to large numbers of Glendale residents, present and future.

That we propose to enlist, and except to receive the hearty cooperation and support of the citizens and business interests of Glendale and the surrounding community in making this project a worthwhile enterprise, as the success of any locality depends largely on its manufacturing interests. To this end we are offering an opportunity to them to invest in the securities of our Corporation, by and under the terms of a permit issued to us buy the Corporation Commissioner of the State of California, under date of July 19th, 1923.

That we feel we have earned and merit the confidence, cooperation and support which we seek, and we point with pride to the list of our Directorate; to the men whom with their money, time and effort have produced the wonderful truck which we are to manufacture, and especially to the five prominent business men of Glendale, who have identified themselves with this institution, and who will be the guiding spirit in the management of the affairs and policies our Company.

In conclusion we bespeak, for our representatives, who will call upon you, your kind and courteous attention. These gentlemen will explain in detail the merits of our truck, wherein we excell all other trucks heretofore offered, and the wonderful opportunity of large return on an investment with us, based not on theory, but on statements of fact relative to the accomplishments of other truck companies who had nothing in comparison with what we have to offer.

Respectfully Yours,

PULLING FOR PARKS

There is no occasion for accepting the views of Mr. Bryan touching evolution. It is quite possible to avoid endorsing his political preachments. But the gentleman in a recent speech made one assertion that thoughtful hearers must have given their approval. He spoke in advocacy of city parks. He gave it as his belief that a man who buys acreage and cuts it into city lots should be compelled to set aside certain portions of it for park purposes.

It is strange that compulsion should be necessary. There has been plenty of experience in municipal growth to prove that such a provision would so enhance the value of adjacent property, that the project would mean an additional profit. The urban community that fails to look out for future parks is assuming a heavy liability. As, soon or late, the parks will be demanded, and will be costly, the time to arrange for them is when space is abundant and cheap.

In large cities, where once parks might have been established at nominal cost, they are now being established by the expenditure of millions. In many instances valuable property has to be condemned, and fine structures destroyed. Often the discovery follows that there is no adequate thoroughfare to the new park, and this means additional burden upon the taxpayer.

Parks are vital to the health and beauty of every city. Wide streets to a certain extent fulfill the purpose of parks; at least they are essential adjuncts. To neglect either is to cramp expansion, and to mar the artistry that should mark urban development.

A LAW WITHOUT TEETH

There are signs of grave dissatisfaction with the state motor law. This is due to the fact that it appears to be without teeth. Perhaps the actual test will show it to be different. If it has any power to check the violation of traffic regulations; if it gives any useful authority to the officer having the duty of enforcing observance of legal speed, its true character is not yet evident. On the contrary it seems likely to make the reckless more defiant, and the officers more helpless.

Speed traps have been abolished. The use of these involved scrutiny of the time in which a machine passed two points, the distance between the points having been measured accurately. It was a sure test. There is now left to the officer the method of pursuing the offender. By the speed of his own machine the officer is made aware of the speed of the person pursued. The necessity for chasing a speeder along a crowded highway virtually doubles the perils of innocent drivers. But when the officer has caught the culprit, he seems to have accomplished nothing. If a "plain clothes cop" his testimony will not be received in court. That is to say, the law leaves to him but a single method of procuring evidence, and then rejects the evidence.

Moreover, the individual arrested is accorded the privilege of taking the case to the county seat if he makes such demand at the time of arrest. This must result in delay, expense and probably in making interference with the lawbreaker a mere waste of time.

An interpretation of the law may be given by the supreme court before it can be fully understood. Meanwhile some municipalities are going right ahead, using speed traps, trying to punish speeders, and to protect the public, despite the handicap they face in the new statute.

DEFENDING WORTHY GAMES

There is a tendency to poke fun at the ancient and honorable habit of pitching horseshoes. The fact remains undisturbed that it is a fine game. It affords a desirable amount of exercise in the open air. It requires skill, often highly developed. It is adapted to the endurance of men who have passed the time when they care to be subjected to strenuous physical effort. There is no good reason, however, why it should not be played and enjoyed by the younger and more vigorous.

Similarly, croquet has been placed under a sort of social ban. In croquet it is possible to develop a science of method and technique quite as masterly as in vogue on the golf links. It demands precision of eye, a steady nerve, an equable temper. It does not involve the danger of muscular strain. It develops a pleasing intimacy among those engaged in it. Much as the billiard expert might scoff at the idea, an accomplished croquet player needs to study angles and distance, with all the nicety these equations are considered by the billiardist. Perhaps the game is held in light esteem because it is mild enough to be attractive to the gentler sex, and may be played after a fashion by children. Also, it is not marked by the presence of professionals, and no fat purses and few side bets mark its progress. Nevertheless it is a good game, an interesting game, and deserving of much more respect than is bestowed upon it generally.

As for the venerables who pitch horseshoes, long may they flourish, cheered by the achievement of many a flower!

FIXING COURT CASES

A woman is before the courts of Los Angeles county just now charged with swindling accused persons. The method ascribed to her was that of representing that she had influence with the police or the judiciary, and for a certain sum would bring about acquittal or at least a lessening of the penalty. Such cases are far from rare, although as a rule the "fixer" is a masculine type, and when not so engaged, is busy with some other form of confidence game. Few crimes could be classed as more contemptible.

The courts also are dealing with a justice of the peace who has been indicted for activity along these lines. The allegation on which his prosecution is based is that he procured large reduction of bail required of certain prisoners, and then for a consideration, forged the bonds that gave freedom to the defendants. Of course this is a more serious offense than similar conduct on the part of a private citizen. There is enough difficulty in dealing out justice, even when there is no interference with its processes by crooks, official or unofficial. When one of these has been caught, the dignity of the courts and the safety of the public alike demand that the punishment be sure, and not characterized by excessive gentleness.

AMERICA RESPONDING

The government of the United States, and the people acting as individuals or in groups, will do much to lessen the deadliness of the blow that has fallen on Japan. They are showing that this is not a selfish people. Money on behalf of the sufferers is being poured out from private sources. Ships belonging to the government will carry food and clothing to the stricken. The situation makes an appeal to all humanity, but in this country is that part of humanity best able to respond.

Even now it is impossible to estimate the loss of Japan either in life or property. All that is known is that in both respects it has been terrible beyond all words; almost beyond the power of the mind to comprehend. In a land of peace and prosperity, of pride and hope, all at once was chaos. Cities of vast population had vanished before the onslaught of elements attacking with fury unprecedented.

It is not to be conceived that Japan has been crushed finally. Its people, for such is their spirit, will rise to new achievement. As they struggle to rise, to forget their disaster, and their measureless sorrow, they will continue to need help. Never was call more poignant.

Quite frequently a financier finds himself in the subcellar after trying to get in on the ground floor.

THE PRICE OF THE VANDAL

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

Did you ever calculate the price that people collectively pay for the presence in their midst of a comparatively few Vandals?

A vandal is a creature so incalculably mean and sneaking that I always capitalize the name with a sense of reluctance and a silent apology.

I am thinking of the breed just now because of something charming that might have been mine but for vandals. Last week I visited our delightful resort, Catalina. My last visit was some ten years ago and many improvements have grown up on the island since that time. Among them rises to gladden the eye the private home of William Wrigley Jr. Set like a jewel on the crown of a hill above Avalon the house rests in simple dignity among its acres of rare plants. In the morning sun the water turned on by the gardeners plays from many fountain heads and forms miniature rainbows which flash amidst the riot of color that is everywhere. Beds and borders and terraces of flowers run up and down and around the hills, vines clamber over lattice and pergola until the visitor stops in wonder to gasp with joy.

But he gasps outside the gate, even when the family is away and the house is locked—and he is barred because of vandals.

It was the generous intention of Mr. Wrigley when he built his lovely home to share the garden with the visitors to the island. Tourists enjoyed the freedom of the grounds and strolled at will among the beds and clusters of blossom. The vandals strolled with the honest men and when the opportunity offered the vandals plucked the rare plants, tore them up by the roots and carried them away. Not only that, they attempted to break into the house, so that the proprietor had no defense save to close his grounds and keep the public outside.

For the same reason many another private garden has been closed to the public, just as the misconduct of some evil doers.

The remedy is enough moral courage to make us promptly denounce vandals and so force them to pay privately and individually for their depredations. But we are too "polite" to do that. We keep silent and ultimately accept what comes, which means that we have vandals because the majority of us are moral cowards.

In one form or another most of us witness vandalism every day—and are silent.

How many reprove it?

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

Each fall—after it gets cold enough to make wood-chopping a pleasure and the ice forms in the tin bucket over night—several of us young to middle aged old fools go camping. The rest of the year we cluster in the bank's back room two or three night a week and talk about it. Last night we were making up the list for this fall's folly, as our middle aged wives call it, when the banker spoke up.

"Let's leave Frank Cratty out this time," he said. "He worries too much."

"We all like Cratty. He does more than his share of the work and pays his share of the bills. But he worries. Before we get away he rubs the fuzz off the peach of our expedition by fussing. He makes each of us assure him that each has shoes and blankets and fishing tackle and blankets and old clothes. He has worried two of the best cooks who ever flipped a flapjack into quitting us. He makes us get down to the station and home before time on each frosty morning, no matter if we are in a country in which the engineer will leave his cab and walk across fields to wake up a sleep-headed passenger. He worries about wood, so that instead of having a good time camping we work like woodchoppers. Campers who follow us never touch hand to an axe. He finds typhoid germs in the clearest water."

"If Cratty goes, I don't," said the banker, "and I'll tell him why. I don't propose to be on a constant stampede because of poor old Frank's worries. Let him worry alone."

So Frank's out. He'll never understand why. All next winter he'll worry about it. And worry the rest of us. Personally, I think our decision was an error. He will worry us anyhow. Better have him worry in a way we're used to.

THE LISTENING POST

By JAMES W. FOLEY

The man with his head in the clouds and the man with his feet on the ground met by the wayside.

As they sometimes do.

JAMES W. FOLEY

For the world has many men with their feet on the ground.

And not so many with their heads in the clouds.

The man with his head in the clouds is useful perhaps.

But not so useful as the man with his feet on the ground.

For living comes mostly from the labors of men with their feet on the ground.

Although vision and direction come often from men with their heads in the air.

It is a good thing to keep the head high. But it is also a good thing to keep the feet firmly placed.

For stability is necessary in a world of affairs.

Stability and direction.

The man with his head in the clouds greeted the man with his feet on the ground. For they were friends.

Although neither quite understood the other. The man with his feet on the ground wondered what the other man could find to interest him in the clouds.

And the man with his head in the clouds wondered how any man could be happy with his feet on the ground all the time.

Thus it was a case of clouds versus clods. Both important enough.

For the seed is planted in the clods. But the rain comes from the clouds. And we could not harvest a crop unless we had both soil and rain.

The man with his head in the clouds was wiping his eyes.

Because he had been studying the skies.

And the light was rather trying.

And the man with his feet on the ground was rubbing his foot.

Because it was sore from walking along the road.

The one was studying the heavens.

The other was observing the earth.

And both types of men are necessary.

Although the plowman is more important than the poet.

Because without the plow poetry would starve to death.

And the man with his head in the clouds asked the man with his feet on the ground if he had studied the heavens recently.

And the other man said he had not.

And he asked the man with his head in the clouds if he had studied the earth lately.

And the other man said he had not.

And each observed that it was too bad.

And the man with his head in the clouds said it was too bad because there was a new comet or something.

"Have you seen it?" still rubbing his eyes.

And the other man said no.

But he said there was a new rut in the road.

Because it had nearly turned his ankle.

And they went on.

One rubbing his eyes.

And the other rubbing his ankle.

Songs of the Poets

Holy Innocents—By Christina Georgina Rossetti

Sleep, little Baby, sleep:
The holy Angels love thee,
And guard thy bed, and keep
A blessed watch above thee.
No spirit can come near
Nor evil beast to harm thee:
Sleep, Sweet, devoid of fear
Where nothing can alarm thee.

The Love which doth not sleep,
The eternal arms surround thee:
The Shepherd of the sheep
In perfect love hath found thee:
Sleep through the holy night,
Christ-like from snare and sorrow,
Until thou wake to light
And love and light tomorrow.

MY NOVEL

By DR. FRANK CRANE

REALLY the most important thing in life is to make it interesting.

The effort to make life interesting explains most of the things we do; why we work, why we play, why we marry and why we get divorced, why we go abroad, why we save money and why we spend it; in short, this accounts for our goings and comings in our downings and our uprisings.

I met a young man the other day who was more intriguing than the author of any famous novel. He was making a novel out of his life. He was considering everything that happened to him as something that happened to his hero. Therefore his own career amused and absorbed him because it was a continued story. It had the added advantage that he could not look over into the back of the book to see how it all came out.

"But aren't you engaged in another form of fooling yourself?" I inquired. "Isn't this just another way of lifting one's self up by one's bootstraps? There are all sorts of facts and cults, we see them recommended daily to bring health, success or salvation by making us believe things that are not so. Is not this one of them?"

"Maybe it is," said my young friend, "I am not inclined to be contemptuous of Coue or New Thought or Pollyanna or any other system, religion or even fatuity. At bottom all these things amount to the business of using one's imagination to improve the taste of life."

"You see, I am considering my life as a story, and myself as the hero. There is no deception about that, for there is certainly no story in the world as interesting to me as my own."

"Everything that happens that makes any notable change in my life, in fact, every incident that reminds me of something that has interested me in novels or in moving pictures, I regard as a new chapter."

"My wife and I have great fun playing the game. We have got along as far as Chapter 147. You have no idea of how it helps us, how it gives us a forward looking attitude, in every crisis."

"For instance, a year or so ago, while my wife was on a visit to her old home in Vermont, her very dearly beloved brother was accidentally drowned. When she wired me the news, all I telegraphed back to her was 'Chapter 130.'"

"We keep a sort of diary. We write it just as if we were writing a novel. There is a chapter that tells of the first time we met; it was at the graduating exercises at Ann Arbor. There are chapters devoted to the different events that have happened to me in my business, and others describing certain people that we have met."

"You have no idea how after awhile you find out that about as many interesting things are happening to yourself as to book people."

"It's a great game and encourages a sort of constant What Next attitude."

"A cynical and sophisticated friend said to us the other day, when we were speaking of this matter, 'You young fools are just kidding yourselves along.'"

"Quick as a flash Helen came back at him. 'Aren't you doing the same thing? You are kidding yourself along to believe that nothing happens that is interesting, that nothing matters and that life is all drab. And what do you get out of it?'"

"I think that was a good answer. What is our imagination for anyhow, if not to make life more attractive, more colorful, and to give it all a meaning?"

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

IF MAGNUS WOULD GO ABROAD:

[The Independent]

The reports of our peripatetic senators are not all in yet. Senator La Follette has not yet returned from Europe to tell us from first-hand observation how fortunate we are not to be entangled in the general muddle over there. But he will not be slow to discover how the English and French are craftily planning to use us for their own selfish purposes. Senator Johnson made his report at great length. But who can believe that La Follette's observations will not add a volume to all that has thus far been said? The pity is that other Johnson—Magnus—cannot spare the time from the farm to learn a thing or two about the other side. Could his hatred survive the flattering attention which, in England at least, he would be sure to receive? For if there is one thing an Englishman loves it is the typical American of his own imagination. Which reminds us that while American politicians are telling us what Europe is like, would it not be well if some enterprising paper were to obtain first-hand impressions by, say Lord Balfour and Clemenceau and Mussolini of some of our innocents abroad?

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

It is well to be honest even in respect of the weather. This community has been having a hot spell. It was hotter by reason of humidity, but it was hot anyhow. At least all residents got such impression.

Of course to visitors from sections where "heated term" has a real meaning, the warmth seemed to be moderate. But to residents it was hot. They mopped their brows and really believed themselves. Alas, that they had forgotten the sweltering that had been their portion each summer when they lived in the east or the middle west.

The heat of Philadelphia comes to mind because the writer was in the midst of it for many seasons. Compared with that intolerable, blistering, deadly heat, the worst that has been experienced here has been a breath of comfort, and that's a fact.

If one will but remember clearly the experience of years spent elsewhere, he is bound to realize how blessed he is in such an environment as this region affords. The admission, freely made, is that the weather has been hot, which means, hot compared with what it is habitually here. By the standards prevalent in most sections of the country, it has not been hot at all; merely unusual.

The League of Nations as it is, is on trial. The League of Nations as it was to have been, never has been brought to trial. It was condemned in advance, by a judgment that may have been over-hasty. Therefore it is idle to point to the apparent helplessness of the present organization as indicating anything that might have prevailed had original plans not gone awry.

At the time the League was sought to be formed, the United States was looked upon as the moral leader of the world. Perhaps its influence would have led in the direction of peace. Who knows?

Police authorities stopped a theatrical performance in Los Angeles, on the ground that the exhibition was obscene. Had there been an attempt to continue, arrests would have followed.

The merits of the play are not under consideration here; not even the possibility that interference had been encouraged as a method of winning publicity. The point is that when a performance is deemed improper, the law is empowered to ring down the curtain and penalize the offenders. Of course this is exactly as it should be.

Application of the law would constitute an adequate censorship.

The "triangle" element in human affairs still manages to use up front pages that might be devoted to real news.

When jealousy prompts a brutal murder the episode is deplorable. It indicates a moral laxness that, if general, would endanger society. The latest case being exploited involves several whose relations to each other were contrary to law, had been entered into in a spirit of wanton recklessness. Some of them desired a shifting of these unholy relationships, and murder was the natural sequence.

Persons involved in such affairs are not typical. They represent a plane of depravity far below the common level. They are not worth all the fuss made about them.

President Coolidge did not rise to any unwonted height in appointing Governor Pinchot to adjudicate the coal strike. He simply operated naturally on the high plane he already had the distinction to occupy.

If Europe is determined upon suicide, as circumstances seem to indicate, wisdom suggests that this country keep out of it so thoroughly as to be as slightly disturbed as possible by the dying throes.

The present seems an excellent time for the two Americas to get into closer relationship, and to depend less and less on a Europe that is likely at any time to blow up.

Italy's dictator has lost by one movement much of the respect that the world had begun to bestow upon him. Outrageous as may have been the conduct of Greece, or the conduct for which it was responsible, it could not afford justification for bringing upon the whole of Europe, the threat of war.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

PLAY IS OVER

"School begins in a few days. Better prepare yourself. There won't be any playing about this term's work, young lady, young man! Just remember that!"

Now what's the sense of that? Do you want to make the children dread the school? Of course, you don't. You're only trying to make them feel sense of responsibility toward their duty. Then it would be better to set about it in a different way.

You see playing is the child's work. That is the only real work he knows. It is the only form of work that he senses properly. If he has been obliged to do what he was bid without any regard to his pleasure in the doing, he has not sensed the notion of work as you hoped, but he has gathered a deep sense of disgust for imposed tasks which is a very different thing.

A child will work ceaselessly, work until he drops from fatigue, at what he senses as his play. To you it would be toil to dig a shallow ditch and all day long carry stones to pile up in it and make a house or a fort or a garage.

But the child who is doing it feels no fatigue because his body is riding on the wings of play. To make him plod the stony highway of duty does more harm than it will ever do good.

Should he not do useful things? Truly! But he has to do them in the play spirit. For instance, it is hard for a child to put on his stockings. He must learn to do this for himself, of course.

Now you can say: "Here, put on your stockings. Hurry up now and don't take all morning." Or you can say: "My, I see five pink and white nice on each foot! See if you can get them into your trap. Have to hurry or they'll scamper away. Quick, quick!"

"Must he always be jollied into doing what he ought to do as a matter of course?" O, my dear duty-doer, you are deceiving yourself! You think you have reached the place where you don't have to be jollied into doing what you ought to do as a matter of course, don't you? You haven't!

When you have done a bit of work that you think is rather good, isn't there, somewhere a voice that you are listening for? Aren't your ears pointed that way waiting for the word of praise that inspires you to go on and tackle the next thing?

Of course, there is, whether you are four or forty, the situation is the same. The degree has altered a bit, that's all. If there is no one close enough at the time to cheer you on with a smile and a hearty word there is the dream of the time when there will be.

And that is the spirit of play, working on within us all from youth to old age. The harder we play, the more we can lose ourselves in the joy of the doing, the better the job will be.

When the spirit of play dies, when there is no more joy in the doing, no fairy mist over the drudgery, there is nothing for us but the husk of things. No, school does not end the play time. Better not suggest it. Quite the contrary, it helps keep it alive.

'THE WAYFARER' DESCRIBED BY GLENDALE LADY

Supreme Mission of Vast Pageant Purely Spirit-
tual, Claim

By HANNAH LUELLA HUKILL,
M. D.

The supreme mission of "The Wayfarer" is a spiritual one and Saturday evening the people of Southern California were given the happy privilege of witnessing this great pageant, opening in the vast coliseum in Exposition park, with a seating capacity of 43,000.

Dr. James E. Crowther, a minister of Philadelphia, was the channel through which this great and inspired lesson was given to the world, and he wrote it on one night something over two years ago.

Montgomery Lynch is the producer and trainer of the vast cast. With him are associated William Tyroler and Hugo Kirchofer who have trained the 4000 singers, and the band of 100 pieces, which plays when the chorus sings Handel's "Messiah."

This huge pageant of the kingdom is staged in one of the largest coliseums in the county and the stage is the largest in the world. In the last scene the assembled cast of 8000 are arranged together in a most magnificent tableau, the greatness of its proportions begin to be realized. Seven cardinals of scenery were necessary for the equipment and twelve navy searchlights play great spots of light beautifully upon the assembled actors. The stage is 200 feet wide by 150 feet deep, with a proscenium arch rising 90 feet high.

In the theme the Wayfarer questions and challenges the chaotic condition of the world at the present time and wonders why the whole planet should be in such a turmoil in its process of reconstruction. One might class the Wayfarer as belonging to the despairing class. As the story unfolds he is brought back to faith and service by the divine messenger called Understanding. She expresses in a wonderful way the presence of God through all the ages becoming triumphant over every foe.

The prologue depicts the strife of mankind and this was the very thing which occasioned the Wayfarer's despair. From this scene of carnage, in a Flanders' village, he is led by Understanding through the ages. She shows him that moral victory is the aftermath of seeming defeat and that every crown is won only by way of the cross. The Babylonian captivity shows the Hebrew captives worshipping by the rivers of Babylon. The note of despair rings in their voices. An angel assures them they shall become a great people and that the birth of the Messiah is near at hand. Their gloom is changed to joy at the realization that they are not forsaken of God.

In the epilogue depicting the birth of the Christ the Wayfarer begins to catch a glimpse of God's mystic ways of working in this world of matter. He soliloquizes: "Strange that God should come as a babe, and not as a monarch full-panoplied with power. It may be that God's omnipotence fulfills itself in weakness, like to mine."

The triumphal march of Christ into Jerusalem was a scene after the Wayfarer's own heart. The music, the joy and laughter, the flowers and victory, the multitude waving palm branches thrilled his very soul. He was sadly brought back to reality in the next scene showing the crucifixion. He was forced to learn that the palm branches of popular acclaim were not founded on the imperishable rock of truth. As the Prince of Life dies a felon on the Roman cross, a great feeling of revenge takes possession of the Wayfarer. He is bewildered and stunned by his greatest of all mysteries. He inquires: "How can the triumphant Christ become the victim of a Roman spear? How can God be defeated in His own world?" All his hopes of Christ's triumph and reign are shattered. The dark agony of his own soul gives him something of a realization of the Master's agony on the cross.

The great illumination which comes to the Wayfarer at the resurrection is the turning point in his spiritual life. In the empty tomb he saw that Christ had risen—that He had triumphed over the last enemy, death, and he exclaims in a joyful voice: "No, no, even a sable death, can stay the onward marching of the King." The Wayfarer had found the Christ in his own soul before he had known only the historical Christ. Now he possessed a living, personal, unconquerable Christ, who is the "Ruler of the Kingdom of the Earth," and he knew here could be no defeat for those who are on God's side. So because he knows, he is on God's side, standing for good and resisting evil, working for right and not for selfishness.

The concluding scene, called the Golden Age, is a most magnificent picture. In a glorious array of lights and colors America is portrayed as the "Melting Pot" of all nations, all races, all colors, all creeds, and the part of Columbia was taken by Mrs. Charles Temple, of Glendale. Arranged about her high pedestal were thirteen young women representing the thirteen states. Among various other representations were George

Editor of the
Glendale Press:

With some degree of amusement, but also with no little concern I read in your splendid issue of the 7th an "outline" of proposed work for the Chamber of Commerce by its secretary. Please permit space for brief comment.

It is evident from the statements made therein that the Chamber has obligated itself to "put over" the Haddock-Nibley park on the taxpayers of Glendale.

With that reputable and progressive business concern we have no quarrel; on the other hand we earnestly commend their efforts in the upbuilding of our city, regardless of the personal profit realized.

But when it comes to the Chamber of Commerce, a body supposed to be without prejudice and without favor and to be imbued only with a desire to further business and civic interests, presuming to use the organized force and prestige of that body in a bold second attempt to saddle on the city and the taxpayers a proposition, the stench of which has not yet cleared out of the atmosphere since the last election, when after an organized campaign the like of which this city has never before witnessed, this and its kindred proposition, the late "hot-airport," were overwhelmingly defeated, then we have a right to question and do most emphatically question their right to do so. While not formally on the ballot yet it was recognized as a kindred proposition with the airport, and was undoubtedly the means of rolling up an immense vote against such raw methods of forcing the taxpayers to support measures staged and "put over" for personal profit.

Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt. The Boy Scouts were given a prominent place. Then at the side of the vast stage wide doors flew open and multitudes of peoples bearing beautiful silken flags, cross-crowned, of all countries, all races, all colors and all organizations, poured forth as the musicians played and sang, 4000 strong, the Hallelujah chorus from "The Messiah." This vast throng marched around a circular roadway, at least a quarter of a mile in length, and at the opposite side of the stage, they met. Then they continued in opposite directions back to the other side of the stage from which they started. Amid the wonderful colorings of the flags of all nations they arrange themselves picturesquely on the stage, a mammoth illuminated cross of light being used as a background.

The Wayfarer, meanwhile, has taken his place near Columbia at the back of the stage. He surveys that vast assemblage, recognizing that God's plan for the world is being worked out and solved here in America, that sooner or later all will see and understand the great plan God has for humanity. In his closing benediction he says: "Now unto the King eternal, immortal, invisible, the only God, be honor and glory forever." The chorus sings "Coronation," the curtain is drawn for the last time and this most glorious spectacle is over.

Keith L. Brooks pointed out to the Men's Bible class Sunday morning at the city council chamber that the Apostle Paul, great as he was, did not approach in character his divine Master, and made some serious mistakes, as did others of the early disciples. The lesson was based on Acts 21 and 22.

With the methods used in first procuring this park, we are not at this time concerned. Suffice it to say that they have been repudiated and condemned by every good citizen and, with the aid of the court effectively nullified; and if this question is ever again made an issue either by the Chamber of Commerce or any other body, they will see such a fight in this community as will make the last scrap look like a Sunday school picnic.

One other comment, Mr. Editor, and I am through. The city of Glendale has a regularly elected city council, and whether we fully agree with them or not, they are our official representatives.

The city of Los Angeles, through its board of freeholders duly elected, is building a new city charter, which indirectly if not directly will affect the destiny of our city.

That the freeholders' body welcomed delegations of those interested, coming with suggestions and help. Is it not the city council that should appoint this delegation from Glendale, and not a mere local limited commercial body, not representative in any sense of our whole citizenship? Will our city council take the insult, overlook the presumption, and play second fiddle to a private club?

Remember, gentlemen, you are supposed to represent our city, preserve its dignity, uphold its honor and safeguard its welfare. These are privileges, powers and prerogatives that you accept by virtue of your office, and that cannot be delegated to other bodies, or wrested from you in any such manner.

We call upon you, therefore, as our representatives to assert your dignity, and fulfill your obligations. Will you rise to it? We shall see!

Yours truly,
J. R. GREY,
124 N. Brand Boulevard.

LA CRESCENTA NOTES

The outstanding feature of the regular meeting of the La Crescenta Improvement association Thursday night, presided over by the president, C. E. Culberson, was a talk by Supervisor Henry W. Wright, Los Angeles. Mr. Wright's subject was, "The Road Problem for This District."

He assured the association that the county would open Montrose avenue through from Ocean View to Pennsylvania avenue. The improvement will cover 75,000 feet, at an expenditure of $20,000. The deeds for Montrose avenue from Ocean View to Pennsylvania avenue for a 90-foot right of way have been secured by the county, and work will be started in the near future. One of the important things there.

One of the important things accomplished by the La Crescenta improvement association was the formation of a fire district for the La Crescenta valley. This bill was prepared by George Dunlop, approved by the county council and board of supervisors, presented to the state legislature and is now a law, going into effect in December. A special tax will be added to the county rate to provide for the purchase of fire fighting apparatus and other expenses of the district.

The La Crescent Improvement association recently sent out 700 letters including all water users in this district, asking for a small do-ably never dreamed of being arrested in the temple while going through a ceremony of the Mosaic law. Paul was saved from being torn to pieces only by the interference of Roman officers. The Roman authority more than once sheltered early Christians from their Jewish assailants. It is strange that Romans sheltered while Jews persecuted. The Romans' only point was justice and order, for Rome was not interested in religious differences. All this helped, however, to make Rome the defender of Christianity. How blindly men fulfill God's purposes.

Paul would have been scourged by the Roman officers but for his appeal to his Roman citizenship. Every man has a right to protect himself by all lawful means against unjust treatment. We should not depreciate our earthly citizenship, which gives us great privileges and responsibilities. On the other hand, there are many dark places that it cannot lead us through. Earthly citizenship at best is temporary, but what about the soul? The privilege of heavenly citizenship brings the believer all that is to be desired. Paul tells us that by believing in Christ we are made "fellow citizens with the saints and of the household of God." This thought is bound to be a controlling power in our lives here. We get our earthly citizenship by birth or by merit, but the heavenly citizenship comes not by natural birth but merit, but spiritual birth only. It may be accepted by all who would have it as a free gift. "As many as receive Him to them gave He the power to become the sons of God."

nation for the upkeep of the fire equipment. The lack of response for so important a matter was rather surprising. C. A. Haskins, treasurer of the association, read the names of 40 property owners who donated from $1 to $5 each. The total amount received, to date, is $140.

The association also went on record as favoring the widening of Michigan avenue to 90 feet.

C. Jennings Young, assistant fire warden for this district, has taken care of the local fire equipment, responding to every call, from the Sperr Heights district to and including Tujunga, at the sacrifice of his own business. During a period of 17 days, Mr. Young was called to 24 fires. It was to pay Mr. Young for part of his time that this appeal was made.

The association voted to pay Mr. Young $75 a month for the past six months for his services. C. A. Haskins will continue to receive donations at the Montrose State bank for the local fire protection fund and it is hoped every property owner in this district will do his part for the protection of his home. A firemen's ball will be given Saturday, September 22, at the school auditorium, the entire proceeds to go to the fire protection fund.

Flood control and the zoning of this district prohibiting sanitariums and small lots, was discussed and will be taken up more fully at the October meeting.

Mrs. S. B. Young and son, Walt, also her sister, of Florida, who has been the guest of Mrs. Young for the past month, returned Monday from a motor trip to Yellowstone Park.

Mrs. George W. Carson of West Honolulu avenue is vacationing at Santa Monica.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson of Rosemont avenue have returned from a visit to their old home, Cleveland, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson were accompanied home by Mr. and Mrs. E. Nehls, Mrs. Anderson's father and mother.

Mrs. G. B. Hutchinson, and granddaughter of Fresno are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Ervin of East Michigan avenue.

The local Girl Scouts and their captain, Mrs. Jessie Hanson, spent a happy day at Brookside park Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Czernicki of East Michigan avenue are entertaining their cousin, Mrs. August Hees of San Antonio, Texas.

H. G. Lully, manager of the real department of the Jesse Smith Fore-agency of Glendale, has rented the Lichner home, 146 East Mayfield avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Collins and son, Stuart, of East Prospect avenue, left Thursday morning for a week's stay at Arrowhead.

CAPTAIN HOBSON CLEARS AWAY MIXUP

Capt. Richmond Pearson Hobson, president of the International Narcotic Education Association, with headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce building, Los Angeles, yesterday issued a statement to the effect that his organization has no connection with the American Narcotic Crusade or with any other effort dealing with the dope evil.

"We find," Capt. Hobson said, "that there is confusion in the public mind as to the aims and purposes of our association and those of the American Narcotic Crusade, which has been making a membership drive in Los Angeles. The two organizations are entirely different in what they propose. The International Narcotic Education Association's program is purely educational. We propose to meet the narcotic menace—a real one to our very civilization—by turning on the light of truth. The American Narcotic Crusade, as seen by its public announcements, proposes a program of better and stronger laws relative to the evil. The Harrison anti-narcotic act was considered a strong statute when it was enacted, but there are those who consider, in view of the alarming growth of narcotic addiction in the United States, that it has failed."

Capt. Hobson says that his organization "has no quarrel nor does it propose competition" with any organization whose purpose is the alleviation of the present situation in regard to narcotics.

"We leave laws and law-making to whoever chooses that method," he said. "What we want is to reach the children of the United States through the schools with education as to what drug-using means. We know that narcotic addiction is more dangerous than the bite of a poisonous reptile. We are certain that when a consciousness of danger exists, as it will exist when the truth about narcotics is known, the boys and girls of America, from whom addicts are now being recruited by dope peddlers, often as they go to and from school, will shun morphine, heroin, cocaine, opium and all their derivatives, just as they would shun a rattlesnake."

The International Narcotic Education Association's membership effort in the Los Angeles district will be made in October, Capt. Hobson says, with "the expectation that every agency of light, including schools, clubs, churches and many other organizations, will co-operate."

SURPRISE MRS. BURKHART BY PARCEL POST

Through the efforts of Mrs. H. H. Black, president of the Glendale Women's Union Label League, and Mrs. A. D. Hurd, a surprise parcel post shower was given Friday afternoon for Mrs. William Burkhardt of San Diego, who is visiting her mother, Mrs. J. D. Hall of 134 North Belmont street, by the members of the league and friends of Mrs. Burkhardt.

LA CRESCENTA NOTES

The local schools will open Monday, September 17. The registration of children will begin promptly at nine o'clock. On account of the unfinished condition of the Montrose school building all children in the Crescenta district are requested by Principal Blanford to register at the La Crescenta building. The instructors for the coming year will include Alfred Blanford, principal; Mrs. Ester Eyre, assistant principal; Miss Sara Conlin, Mrs. Flora Mueller, Mrs. Rose Greenburg, Miss E. King, Miss E. Rasmussen and Miss Edith Rhea. There is a possibility that two more instructors will be added later in the year.

Miss Jessie Conlin of 159 East Mayfield avenue was the honor guest at a delightful affair given at the school auditorium last night by Mrs. Elmer Bennett and a group of young friends. The affair was in the way of a farewell courtesy, as Miss Conlin leaves next Tuesday for Chicago, where she will be the guest of her sister, Mrs. Harold Smith, and later enter the Northwestern University. Miss Conlin is one of the popular young girls of the valley and will be greatly missed. She was given a beautiful friendship ring last evening, as a token of remembrance from her many friends.

Miss Betty Austin of Los Angeles is the guest of Mrs. Jessie Hanson of East Piedmont avenue. Next Tuesday for Chicago, where she will be the guest of her sister, Mrs. Harold Smith, and later enter the Northwestern University. Miss Conlin is one of the popular young girls of the valley and will be greatly missed. She was given a beautiful friendship ring last evening, as a token of remembrance from her many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Leuer and family of 148 Hermosa avenue returned Tuesday from a two weeks' motor trip through Northern California.

GLENDAL H I Y BOYS ARE HOME FROM CATALINA

Glendale boys who attended the Hi Y planning camp at Catalina Saturday, got home Sunday night, all except Robert Hatch, who remained to see the eclipse from there today.

Rex Kelley, secretary, reports it was a very profitable conference of about 100 boys and their leaders, mostly made up of junior and senior high school boys from all parts of Southern California.

Those who attended from here were Charles Thompson, Lyle McAllister, Ivan Carver, John Heide, Robert Hatch, Kenneth Lee, Marion Morrison, Harold Jones, Coach H. L. Butterfield and Mr. Kelley.

The chief speakers were Dr. Fox, pastor of the First Congregational church of Pasadena; Leon V. Shaw, for whom the camp was named. It proved a real training camp and the morning was devoted to class work in Hi Y methods and problems, with forums, at which the boys had opportunity to ask questions about problems of life and religion.

The afternoon was spent in playing games, fishing and hunting goats.

The "Rag," organized several years ago at Oakland and which has since spread over the United States, was in force at the camp, the "rags" or pennants being awarded for exemplary conduct and service. The Glendale boys were all initiated into this order on merit.

In the evening came the gathering about a camp fire and the reading of the camp paper. Delegates outlined a program for the coming year, to be taken back to their respective clubs for acceptance or rejection.

Mr. Kelley was especially impressed with the democracy shown at the camp. In a hill climb, first honors went to a Mexican boy, a negro came next and an American third.

Besides the addresses referred to, there was a fine talk by E. H. Throne of Pomona, who has just returned from India, who told the delegates about life in that country. A man from Honolulu also made an excellent talk.

ASSOCIATED C. OF C. TO MEET AT MISSION ACRES

Next Tuesday evening the Associated Chambers of Commerce are to meet at Mission Acres for a program dinner to be served at 6:30. Glendale's Chamber of Commerce has received a special invitation to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Jellison of 1266 South Boynton street are enjoying an outing trip to Brent's Mountain Crag. They left Saturday night and return Tuesday. Accompanying the Jellisons are Mr. Jellison's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Farr of 554 West Broadway, Mr. and Mrs. Pittenger of Inglewood, Mrs. Jellison's brother, William Agnew, and Miss Mabel Kulman, both of Terre Haute, Indiana.

REDLANDS, Calif., Sept. 10 (United Press).—A butterfly farm is to be established in the Angeles forest reserve by John Hewlett, of this city. Hewlett proposes to sow forty acres in flowers and let loose his tiny herds of the beautiful insects. He believes that there is considerable money to be made in propagating and disposing of the daintily colored creatures for collection and decorative purposes.

'TO THE LAST MAN' ABSORBING FILM T. D. & L. THEATER

Zane Grey's thrilling story, "To the Last Man," which gives in most realistic manner the rugged pioneer days of the late '80's in the Tonto basin of Arizona, includes many tense dramatic scenes in this red-blooded story of the Pleasant Valley war in which two families and their sympathizers are wiped out, literally "to the last man."

The cast is a brilliant one, as is, of course, a foregone conclusion, since it is a Paramount picture, including Richard Dix, Lila Wilson, of "Covered Wagon" fame; Noah Beery and Frank Campeau. Scenes of wild grandeur in the mountain fastnesses and of dreary desolation in the desert sands, are vividly portrayed, bringing a realism seldom seen.

Every lover of the wild outdoors, of brave men and lovely women, of striking situations and tense climaxes, should see this gripping story of the far Southwest. It is one of the screen stories the T. D. & L. is famous for.

EXCURSION TO HAWAII INTERESTS C. OF C. MEMBERS

E. F. Sanders, secretary of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, is directing the attention of members of that organization to a wonderful excursion to Hawaii which is to be sent out by the Los Angeles chamber leaving November 3. The best cabins are being reserved for members of the Los Angeles and affiliated chambers. The excursion will cover 21 days.

BREAD GOES DOWN ON HARVARD ST.

Bread has "went down." At least, several loaves of different sizes, varieties, colors and brands had quite a downfall.

And the strange part of the whole thing is that the long suffering public did not make a mad scramble for the much needed commodity.

It was this way: A delivery auto of one of the large bread companies went sailing around the corner of Harvard and Brand. During the "sailing" process the rear door of the machine opened in some mysterious manner.

Naturally, the bread rolled out. Artificially it scattered itself over the intersection. The driver of the auto, realizing that something was wrong, stopped and sprang to the sidewalk. In the meantime the passing machines dodged this way and that in their efforts to evade wrecking the whole wheat and otherwise.

The few barley loaves were gathered into the arms of the truck driver and returned, safe and sound, to the bread carrier.

And the bread truck went merrily on its way.

'DEAD SOLDIERS' FILL ONE GRAVE

The funeral has taken place—the poor soldiers have departed. During their lives they filled a more or less useful purpose. Some will consider it was useless, others will think otherwise, but the fact remains that they did the best they could. It was not their fault that they were not put to better use. They fulfilled the demands made upon them in a heroic manner. They stood by their guns until the chief of police took them into custody.

The funeral occurred Friday. The junk man was the undertaker. Sack by sack the "dead soldiers" were carried from the police department to the hearse—the junk wagon—and slowly, without music, the cortege wended its way to the cemetery—the junk yard—in Los Angeles.

There are 720 of these "dead soldiers." They were captured when Yamamoto, the alleged bootlegger, was arrested.

The sale netted the police department $10.75.

GAS STILL SELLS ABOVE 30 CENTS

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., Sept. 10 (United Press).—Although the gasoline war in certain sections of the states has cut down the price considerably, New Westminster motorists are still paying more than 30 cents per gallon for their fuel.

Some local machine owners have been driving across the international line at Blaine, filling up their tanks and perhaps a spare containing, paying the duty, and still cutting the cost down to not more than 25 cents per gallon.

It is believed that as a result of this possibility, a regular business of private importation will grow up in British Columbia unless there is a sharp reduction in price soon.

THURSDAY CLUB TO MEET SEPT. 12

Mrs. W. C. Mabry, president of the Thursday Afternoon Club, has called a meeting of the board of directors of that organization to be held at 2:30 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. L. Bancroft, corner of Laurel street and South Brand boulevard. The purpose of the meeting will be to arrange for the opening meeting of the club.

Deaths and Funerals

MRS. AMANDA HARTLEY
Mrs. Amanda Hartley passed away September 7, 1923, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. Mosier, at Oregon City, Oregon, at the age of 85 years. She had been a resident of Glendale for ten years before going north in July. Mrs. Hartley and her husband, D. F. Hartley, who passed away about four months ago, were both members of the Central Christian Church of Glendale. She was also a member of the Eastern Star of Washington.

Mrs. Hartley is survived by two sons, Frank Hartley of Clarkston, Wash., and A. D. Hartley of 451 Hawthorne street, Glendale, and three daughters, Mrs. Payne, who resides in Eastern Oregon; Mrs. S. Mosier of Oregon City, and Mrs. M. Mosier of Yuma.

The body will be brought to Glendale for burial, reaching here Wednesday. L. G. Scovener Undertaking company will have charge of arrangements here.

Hans Huberts passed away September 8, 1923, at the age of 47 years. He came to Glendale with his family three weeks ago from Chicago, making the trip cross continent by automobile. He was taken critically ill the day he arrived and went to a local hospital, where he passed away Saturday. Mr. Huberts leaves a wife, Mrs. Regina Huberts, and four children, all of whom left Glendale Sunday, accompanying the body to Chicago, where interment will be held. Jewel City Undertaking company had charge of arrangements.

'GLENDAL' AGAIN FEATURES LANE'S GREAT THRILLER

William Fox is sending "A Friendly Husband," with Lupino Lane as the star demonstrator, to the Glendale Theater again today. Furthermore, Mr. Lane's portrayal of "A Friendly Husband" will enable all good and even all indifferent citizens to check up their positive points.

The picture is a comedy. It boasts a mother-in-law of bombastic temperament and stiff, soldierly bearing. It presents a wife whose kiss gives such ecstasy and power that her husband in one swoop dashes to the dizzy heights of heroism.

It pictures a hunting trip that should be of utmost value to hunters, for all that runs is not a bear and all that quivers is not a rabbit. A skunk enters to play a most deadly scene only to exit with odorous indignation.

A band of desperadoes plunders the vicinity and everyone—including the sheriff—quivers in fear who they are rumored to be around. Not Mr. Lane. Single-handed he bewilders them by climbing trees, leaping from branch to branch with monkey-like agility, shooting through unexpected holes, and finally standing triumphant above his fallen foes.

Yes, "A Friendly Husband" should be seen by everyone, because it is what is known in cultural circles as "having the goods."

GATEWAY SHOW SIMULATES REAL BREAK FROM JAIL

King Vidor, in writing the screen version of "Three Wise Fools," which comes again tonight to the Gateway Theater, established a new precedent when the matter came up of planning an escape from prison. This part, of course, was not handled in the stage production. Vidor went back into criminal history and dug up one of the most sensational escapes on record.

The escape, a fairly recent one, from the California State Prison, Folsom, occurred in May, 1920. Four prisoners rushed a locomotive in the prison yard, opened the throttle and crashed their way out of the grounds into open country. Vidor secured all the newspaper clippings of this sensational escape and has followed them closely in making the picture.

REPORT RICH ORE IN OREGON MINE; START STAMPEDE

BAKER, Ore., Sept. 10 (United Press).—Reports that pieces of ore assaying at more than $15,000 per ton have been found in the Red, White and Blue mine at Malheur have started a new gold craze here.

T. S. Glenn, part owner of the mine, reported that he and his partner have taken out quartz containing more than $10,000 in gold in the past few weeks, using picks and shovels in their work. Specimens of the mineral brought here are very rich in gold, it is reported.

ARTIST MEMBERS MUST SEND IN NAMES

All artist members of the Glendale Music club have been requested by Mrs. Warren Roberts to send in their names immediately if they wish to be listed professionally in the club year book.

LEAGUE FORMING TO PROTECT BIRDS ALL OVER WORLD

NEW YORK CITY, Sept. 8.—Although it has proven a difficult matter to create a political league of nations, T. Gilbert Pearson, president of the National Association of Audubon Societies, has demonstrated the possibility of creating a league for the very useful purpose of protecting the wild birds of the world. Leading scientific and conservation societies in nine countries have now organized and pledged to active endeavors for the protection of the birds in their countries, and in aiding similar movements in more benighted regions.

This movement was launched at a conference held in London in June last year. On invitation of Mr. Pearson, delegates from several countries met in the home of Hon. Reginald McKenna and determined that such action was necessary if much of the valuable bird life is to be saved from despoliation.

Mr. Pearson, president of this international committee, who has just returned on the U. S. steamship "Leviathan" from a lecturing and organizing tour through seven of the countries in Europe, said today: "Europe is looking to America for leadership in some of the lines of endeavor in which we as a nation have specialized. There is no country in the world that is so thoroughly organized and has such advanced laws for bird protection as the United States, and many of our methods can be and doubtless will be adopted to meet European conditions."

"Our international organization is now in effective operation in the United States, Canada, Australia, Norway, England, Holland, Luxembourg, France and Italy. Other countries have recently been invited to unite with the movement and action by them may be expected soon. Members of the committee in the different countries are formed into national sections which deal especially with bird protective problems distinctly national in their scope."

"Everywhere I went in Europe our plan was received most cordially."

The fussy dentist was examining the teeth of his patient and assumed an air of great wisdom.

"Do you ever clean your teeth?" he inquired as he pried and poked.

"Yes," replied the patient.

"How many times a day?" pursued the dentist.

"Twice," was the answer.

"Have you had any advice before in regard to your teeth?"

"Yes, I called on a chemist last night."

"And what foolish advice did he give you?"

The exasperated patient exclaimed desperately:

"He told me to come to you."

The justice of the peace in a town in Ohio, in pursuance of his duties, had to hear and judge cases that were brought before him and also to perform occasional marriage ceremonies. He found it difficult to dissociate the various functions of his office.

Everything had gone smoothly until he asked one bride, "Do you take this man to be your husband?"

The bride nodded emphatically.

"And you, accused," said the justice, turning to the bridegroom, "what have you to say in your defense?"

FULL CALENDAR LOCAL SPORTS ASSURED FANS

High and All Grammar Schools Planning Extremely Busy Year

Glendale will have a full calendar in the sporting line from now on. Athletic events of all kinds are scheduled by various organizations. Football, baseball, basketball, tennis, bowling, soccer, and other forms of sport will take place during the fall season.

Coach Hayhurst has announced tomorrow as the opening of high school football practice. Two teams, the regulars and the lightweights, will represent Glendale high this season. Both teams will be of exceptionally fine calibre, and can be classed as real championship material. As the season advances the other high school sports will come on. Tennis, basketball, track and baseball—in all of these lines Glendale will be well represented. For the second successive year, the high school girls will be entered in athletic leagues, playing basketball and indoor baseball.

The city schools will start the soccer season immediately upon the opening of the term. Much enthusiasm has been developed over the soccer games in past years, considerable rivalry having developed among the different schools. Basketball, track and indoor baseball will follow the soccer season.

A basketball league is to be organized in the evening high school as soon as it opens, and several teams have already signified their intention of entering. This league will be open to outside teams as well as to those in the night school. The Glendale Merchants' baseball team, which plays on Sunday at the Park avenue field, has been quite a success in the past and doubtless will continue so during the coming months. Manager Walt and his team have won a place with the fans, and have quite a following among the sporting enthusiasts of Glendale.

Although not much has developed in the last few weeks, tentative plans were formed some time ago to enter a local team in the Class C winter league that is to be organized in Southern California in November. Santa Monica, Long Beach, Pasadena, San Bernardino and San Diego have also signified their intention of entering. The league is being promoted by baseball magnates with the idea of developing new talent for the Coast league. Numerous Coast league players will be secured to play on the various teams.

Several lodges and organizations have athletic teams formed, or are planning to organize them. The H. Y. will produce several athletic teams during the coming year, as will the local Deloitay chapter. The Elks and the Knights of Columbus have teams entered in their respective leagues.

Industrial sports will prove popular this fall, teams having been formed among the employees of numerous stores, offices and factories. One of the latest additions to the ranks is the baseball team of the Glendale Daily Press.

These are only a few of the athletic and sporting events in store for Glendale. Many more will develop in the months to come. These, together with the news of the sporting world at large, will be fully reported every evening in the Glendale Daily Press sport page.

SPORTSMEN QUITE ACTIVE HUNTING DEER SINCE SEPT. 1

Sportsmen have been active in the search for deer in a number of sections since September 1, some having been successful, according to the Southern Pacific's weekly summary of outdoor sports activity announced today by Chas. S. Fee, passenger traffic manager. Sision reports that recent rains have improved conditions and that good hunting in that district is in prospect. Fishermen also are making good catches in the streams of that section.

Reports from Bass Lake, Madera county, state that, while no limits have been taken, fishermen at The Pines have been making nice catches of bass ranging from 2 to 4 pounds in weight. Lake trout are taking minnows. Dr. Henderson of Pasadena has caught a number of trout running from 3 to 4 pounds. Dr. Ehred of Los Angeles caught a 4 1/2 pound rainbow while L. Sellers of Fresno captured one weighing 8 pounds. Jas. Bradley of Fresno caught several weighing from 2 to 4 pounds.

Golfing events include the following: Final handicap match play Tahoe Tavey September 9; summer golf championship for men, Coronado, September 13-15; Olympic Club's fourth annual outing tournament, Del Monte, September 21-23; state amateur championship and women's championship, Del Monte and Pebble Beach, September 12-30.

The Corinthian Yacht Club will observe "Old Timers' Day" September 16 on San Francisco bay. Presentation of season's trophies is to be made at the Newport Yacht Club on October 6.

17-Year-Old Helen Wills Now U. S. Champion

It has taken Miss Wills, of Berkeley, Calif., just five years to rise from the ranks of tennis beginners to the highest pinnacle of United States tennis for women—the national championship. Her father, Dr. Clarence Wills, regarded as an average player among the middle-aged folks, has been her teacher. He taught the California school girl so well that she was able to beat Mrs. Molla Mallory, seven times holder of the national title, so decisively that the score was 6-2, 6-1.

BOXERS ARE BOTH SAVAGE IN RING

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (United Press).—Crowd psychology, which was expected to have such a big influence over Jack Dempsey when he fought Georges Carpentier in Jersey City, and which did not, hardly will be any kind of an important factor in the champion's coming fight with Luis Firpo, the South American giant.

The fight of neither boxer should be affected by the attitude taken or voiced by the spectators. Firpo will not be able to understand any verbal blows that might be tossed at him from the house, and Dempsey will not give a darn if he is given the razz.

In one respect, Dempsey will not be affected by the reception that he is given. If he should get the jeers and hisses that came after he had been presented to the throng in Jersey City, he will fight just the same. But if strange sounds of a monstrous cheer should come to him, he may fight a tremendously better fight.

Since he won the championship by stopping Jess Willard in 1919 at Toledo, nothing but the raucous notes of the razz have been directed at him. Slacker charges resulting from what he did or didn't do, during the war and the heavy financial demands he exacted for his service have made him intensely unpopular.

Whether this spirit of animosity on the part of the public is just, is beside the point. The fact is that he has been razed every time he made his appearance in the ring. He was thought so little of by the people around Shelby that the announcer almost forgot to introduce him after he had devoted several minutes to the glorification of Gibbons.

He was introduced second at Jersey City and after hearing the greatest ovation ever given to a foreign athlete in the United States, he had to stand up under a barrage of boos and jeers when he was introduced as the American defender of the world's championship.

Through it all, Dempsey remained unmoved. Stung terribly as he must have been around the heart, the champion went out and did his stuff and even after winning it was very little of a hand he ever got.

Many followers of boxing believe that Dempsey will be the popular fighter when he appears for his bout with Firpo. The South American has been held up as a penniless individual, out for the money alone. He hasn't the war record that Carpentier had to endear himself to the professional patriots that have been maligning Dempsey and perhaps the crowd will look upon and support Dempsey as the American representative against a foreigner.

After recovering from the shock that would attend a real good reception, if he gets it, Dempsey probably would fight as he never fought before.

When a man begins telling a woman about his past love affairs he is planning the addition of another to the list.

GLENDALE FANS SHOW INTEREST EHMKE'S SUCCESS

Local Man Pitches No-Hit Game For Boston

Local baseball fans have expressed great interest in the work of Howard Ehmke, who pitched the Boston Red Sox to victory in a no-hit run game, with Philadelphia Friday. Ehmke is a Glendale boy and a former Glendale high school twirler, and has a host of friends here.

Back in 1911, Ehmke pitched for the Glendale high school baseball team. He made quite a record and was regarded as a coming player. Not only was he able to put the apple across the plate, but he was also handy with the willow.

After leaving high school, Howard Ehmke entered professional baseball and, after a year or so in the bushes he was signed up by the Los Angeles Angels. For some strange reason, Ehmke was unable to live up to his reputation in the Coast league and finally found himself back in the bushes again.

For some time he remained in the minors, and suddenly was purchased by the Detroit American league team. There he was able to do what he could not do on the coast, and immediately gained a permanent berth. Soon he became one of the aces of the Tiger hunting staff, and gained a great deal of publicity as such.

When the war broke out, Ehmke enlisted in the navy, and was stationed at the submarine base at Los Angeles harbor. While there he hurried in numerous inter-unit games among naval teams.

Upon the closing of hostilities, he returned to the Detroit team, where he remained up to the present season, when sent to the Boston Red Sox in exchange for a number of players. With the Red Sox he has made an enviable record, and as he is still young, has quite a future before him. Who knows but what some day this Glendale boy will be pitching his team to victory in the world's series?

OREGON'S GAME GETTING SCARCE

BEND, Ore., Sept. 10 (United Press).—Bend hunters will back unanimously any move on the part of the state fish and game commission to shorten the deer season, according to sentiment expressed by sportsmen here.

With Oregon's deer hunting season longer than in practically any other state, the game is growing scarcer each year, and many hunters believe that its propagation can be assured only by cutting down the time in which deer may be bagged. Many are in favor of shortening the period at least one month.

It is pointed out that with the early opening, young bucks are so small and immature that the true sportsman gets little enjoyment out of killing them.

When prosperity comes to a man his wife thinks she must live up to it—and a little beyond.

Harry Greb and Johnny Wilson in the Ring Before Pittsburgher Won World's Middleweight Title

After fifteen rounds of slow fighting, Greb won the decision over Wilson in a bout held in New York. The southpaw Wilson, always a defensive fighter, took the offensive in only four rounds and then Greb was able to hold him off.

UNION OIL DOWNS GLENDALE TEAM

Manager Walt Heilder's Glendale baseball team suffered a decisive defeat at the hands of the Union Oil nine yesterday at the Park avenue grounds. The Unionites piled it on to the tune of 12 to 2. Poor fielding and weak hitting were responsible for the defeat of the local boys. They seemed to be simply outclassed by the Oil team, and were unable to turn things their way.

The Cincinnati Reds are now formulating plans to conduct a barnstorming tour of the west following the regular season, if they fail to cop the National league ring, and indications of that are very doubtful. It is planned to start about the first of November, and begin the series in San Francisco, where they will meet the Seals and the Paks. When they come to Los Angeles they will take on a combined team of the Angels and Tigers, composed of the stars of both teams. Practically the entire team has signed up to make the trip.

The barnstorming tour will be an interesting one, and will demonstrate whether the major league teams are really as much superior over the minors as popular opinion believes. When the big leaguers come west and south for the pre-season training, they are seldom able to decisively demonstrate their superiority. Of course the training season games cannot be taken as a real test of the teams, but when the majors and minors are matched at the close of the playing season the public can obtain a fair comparison between the two classes of baseball.

FOOTBALL IS PROGRESSING

Before many weeks the changes in the football rules for the coming season will be announced. It has been a custom annually to revise the rules before the beginning of the season. Each year with the changes expressions of approval are heard from the coaches, players and fans.

During the history of football each change in the rules has been one designed to make a better game, to minimize the perils to the players, and the chances for foul play. As a result football has advanced to the point where it is no longer a game of brawn against brawn, but also of brain, nerve and science.

Thanks to the men who have labored in the interests of football, the game today can rightfully be called the great college sport.

SPORT-O-GRAMS

PROMOTERS VS. MANAGERS AS MATCH MAKERS

With a court order out against him, ordering that he show cause why he should not be prohibited from taking on Luis Firpo before he fights Harry Wills, Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, declares that he will not fight the colored pugilist. When informed of the action of Mullins, manager for Wills, Dempsey is reported to have said: "This means that Wills will never get a chance at the title, while I am champion. I had intended to take him on if I still held the title after the bout with Firpo, but now I will not do it under any consideration."

It seems that Wills is rather peeved because he did not get a crack at the champion before the "Bull of the Pampas," and now he is attempting legal action to halt the championship bout.

For years the promoters have matched the title holders with the "logical contenders," and have rarely been amiss in their judgment. For one fighter to attempt legal action to restrain the champ mixing with another pugilist is an unheard of thing in the history of fighting. Inasmuch as they seek to draw the largest crowds, thus making a popular bout, the promoters are better fitted to decide who is the "logical contender" to the crown than the managers.

REDS PLAN TOUR OF WEST

The Cincinnati Reds are now formulating plans to conduct a barnstorming tour of the west following the regular season, if they fail to cop the National league ring, and indications of that are very doubtful. It is planned to start about the first of November, and begin the series in San Francisco, where they will meet the Seals and the Paks. When they come to Los Angeles they will take on a combined team of the Angels and Tigers, composed of the stars of both teams. Practically the entire team has signed up to make the trip.

The barnstorming tour will be an interesting one, and will demonstrate whether the major league teams are really as much superior over the minors as popular opinion believes. When the big leaguers come west and south for the pre-season training, they are seldom able to decisively demonstrate their superiority. Of course the training season games cannot be taken as a real test of the teams, but when the majors and minors are matched at the close of the playing season the public can obtain a fair comparison between the two classes of baseball.

FOOTBALL IS PROGRESSING

Before many weeks the changes in the football rules for the coming season will be announced. It has been a custom annually to revise the rules before the beginning of the season. Each year with the changes expressions of approval are heard from the coaches, players and fans.

Thanks to the men who have labored in the interests of football, the game today can rightfully be called the great college sport.

The King of Sports

Word that the football season is at hand produces shouts of enthusiasm from the fans and followers of the game. Football has gained an everlasting place in the hearts of the American people. There is hardly a person in the whole nation, man or woman, young or old, who does not enjoy witnessing a real game of football. Where is the American boy who will not leave everything to join in a vacant lot gridiron game?

Perhaps one reason for the popularity of football is the fact that it is the only real amateur sport, the only game that has not in the course of time become commercialized. Football is pre-eminently a college sport. Those who participate do so for the pure love of the game. They receive only the applause of the fans and joy that the tussle brings. Long live the King of Sports!

Doping Out the Fights

On next Friday, Jack Dempsey, champion pugilist, will risk his title in a bout with Luis Angel Firpo, "The Bull of the Pampas." Reporters have already commenced telling the public just how the fight will turn out. One goes as far as to outline the battle round by round, giving the approximate blows that will be given. The funny part of it all is that they have not reached the same decision. Those at the Dempsey camp say that the champ will win, while those at the camp of his opponent say that Firpo will be the victor. All of which goes to show the futility of trying to dope out a fight in advance. Dopesters predicted that Dempsey would dispose of Tommy Gibbons early in the game, not having the slightest idea that he would hang on for fifteen rounds. Dozens of other similar instances can be pointed out. It is possible to a certain extent to dope out certain kinds of games, but so many elements enter into the fighting game that a poor dopester cannot hope to foresee them. He can only give his honest opinion, which, in reality, may be called a huge guess.

Football prospects at the Southern Branch of the University of California are so bright that work has been commenced to double the seating capacity of the bleachers. At all the home games last season, it was necessary to rope off the field in order to prevent the overflowing crowds from hindering the games. Three of the big conference games the Cubs will play at home. Pomona, Redlands and Wildcat will meet the Cubs in their native lair. Practice will be called about September 19 by Coach Jimmy Cline.

A New York World's Series. It appears that another New York World's Series will take place this year. The Yankees are so far ahead that there is no hope of stopping them, while the Giants SEEM TO HAVE PUT THE REDS OUT OF THE RUNNING. To the New Yorker this may be all very well, but to the baseball public as a whole it is not so good. To have two New York teams battle for supremacy for three years in a row is a little too much of a good thing from the standpoint of those outside New York. We may be wrong, but it is our opinion that another New York World's Series will not meet with the response that would be accorded another combination.

SEALS WIN TWICE HEAVY SCHEDULE FROM SLIPPING VERNONITES FOR U. S. C. FOOTBALL

Angels and Oaks Divide; Suds Trounce Bees; Ducks Win Both

Cardinal and Gold Pigs; skimmers to Battle All Pacific Coast

San Francisco walked all over the Vernon Tigers twice yesterday, first to the count of 11 to 6, and afterward by the score of 6 to 1. The Tigers utterly failed to function as a ball team. A pitcher's duel between Douglas McWeaney of the Seals and Ernie Alten of Vernon lasted for three innings, and then the Seal batters, fathoming Alten's offerings, proceeded to gather in three runs. From then on it was a walkaway for Frisco.

In the second game, Tiner, pitching for Vernon, met up with Scott, moundman of the Seals. Tiner pitched airtight ball early in the game, but was unable to keep it up. As a result, the Seals won the second contest, 6 to 1. The score:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R	E	B	P
San Francisco	0	0	3	4	0	0	1	1	11
Base hits	0	0	1	0	4	2	2	2	18
Vernon	0	0	1	0	0	0	2	0	4
Base hits	2	1	0	0	0	2	2	2	12

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R	E	B	P
San Francisco	0	0	0	1	1	2	1	0	1	6
Base hits	0	0	0	1	1	2	1	1	10
Base hits	1	0	1	1	1	0	0	1	6

Los Angeles and Oakland divided the day's games evenly, the Angels taking the morning affair, and the Oaks the afternoon pastime. Six errors cost the Angels the morning game, but timely hitting gave them the second contest. Hughes and Crandall did the mound work for Los Angeles, while it took Hobson, Mills, Ely and Murchio to leave the two games for Oakland.

LYOYD WILSON IN $15,000 DEAL

Another big transaction put through by Lloyd Wilson, the San Fernando boulevard realtor, last week, has helped to establish values on Glendale's portion of that great state highway. It was the sale of 100 feet at the southeast corner of Palmer and San Fernando to Mrs. Flack of Hollywood for a consideration of $15,750. She is considering its improvement with a building to be used as a drug store.

WAY OF CAIN' IS SERMON THEME

Following is a summary of the sermon preached by Rev. C. H. Christman, pastor of the Gospel Tabernacle, corner of Chestnut and Louise street, at the morning service, his theme being, "The Way of Cain."

"Cain and Abel, famous in the annals of sacred history, were the first two sons of Adam. They were both religious. In the process of time they both, at an appointed time and place brought sacrificial offerings unto the Lord. Cain brought of the fruit of the fields. Abel brought an offering of the flocks which he tended. Cain's offering was the product of his own skill and effort. Abel's offering was the divinely appointed lamb and offering of blood. It is said that the Lord had respect unto Abel and to his offering but unto Cain and to his offering he had not respect. Why was this?"

"To what did Jude have reference when, many centuries later, he referred to a class of people, saying, 'Woe unto them; for they have gone in the way of Cain? What is this way of Cain?'"

Note first that it is a religious way. Cain had some kind of faith. He believed in God. He had an inclination to worship. God's disapproval would indicate that mere religion will not save us. The heathen are religious. Any religion that ignores the necessity of the sacrificial blood of Christ is obnoxious to God. If we come to God, we must come on God's terms.

The way of Cain was also a way of impertinence. He ignored God's way and God's word. He had been taught, as well as Abel, that without the shedding of blood there is no remission of sin. But all of this he ignored. He had no sense of sin therefore and it is not strange that he felt no need of atonement. Instead of taking sides with God against himself he takes sides with himself against God. He repudiated God's estimate of man and followed man's estimate of himself. And Cain's way was a way of inconsistency. He got angry with God because God did not accept his offering. He murdered his own brother in a jealous rage. When God asked, 'Where is thy brother,' he lied and said, 'I know not.' He exhibited his indifference to humanity by asking, 'Am I my brother's keeper?'

"This way of Cain is the way of Satan. The devil is the father of every movement that leads away from the Cross of Calvary, the shed blood of the Lamb of God. As the scarlet thread runs through all the cordage of the British navy so God looks upon every religious movement for the mark of the Blood. Let us not be among those of whom it is said, 'Woe unto them; for they have gone in the way of Cain.'"

The Misses Lovell and Lollabelle Taylor, of 505 North Maryland, are spending the week at Bellflower as guests of Mrs. George Baker.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

JAMES W. FOLEY

A BOY ON CIRCUS DAY

Long days before the village barns were done with posters rare;
Of lions, tigers, elephants and acrobats in air.
Long days before we stood and looked with rapture and delight,
At all the wonders pictured, there was never such a sight.
And day by day we counted through the weeks and weeks before,
And miser-like our pennies then we counted o'er and o'er,
Until at last it came in all its marvelous array,
Was there a being happy as a boy on circus day?

I wonder if they do it now, I'm sure I do not know,
But we were up at four to see the men unload the show;
To see the cages rolled from cars, and hear a savage roar,
Such noises as the lions make, nor had we heard before.
And elephants walked down the planks, and tall giraffes would stride,
And cages full of monkeys with a chattering inside.
And soon the big tents belled out, with flags in glad array,
Who knows such joy as we did who were boys on circus day?

The street parade at ten o'clock, with chariots and bands,
With elephants and camels and the beasts from many lands,
The riders and the horses and the mighty cavalcade,
And then the old steam organ with the tooting tune it played;
And then, Oh joy, to enter in through the menagerie,
And find a seat up near the top, with eyes popped wide to see.
You may know joy, or think you do, but you're quite wrong, I say,
Unless you were a village boy one time on circus day.

PRESBYTERIAN MEN OF TROPICO IN SOCIAL TIME

At the preliminary meeting of the Men's Club of the Tropico Presbyterian church held Friday evening, H. E. Fry was appointed a committee of one to secure a program for the first regular meeting to be held the first Friday evening in October. The session was practically a social meeting of the committee of the whole and proved a very pleasant evening to all participants.

OLD SETTLERS' PICNIC DRAWS THE OLD TIMERS

About fifty presented themselves at the home of J. C. Sherer on Saturday for the Old Settlers' picnic. Not as many elderly men and women identified with the early history of Glendale were present as had been hoped for, and the weather was blamed for their absence. A goodly number who have lived here long enough to be termed old settlers by comparison with the many newcomers, were there and a very pleasant social afternoon was enjoyed following the picnic lunch.

Speeches reviewing the past were made by George Woodbury, W. E. Evans, T. W. Sanford of Sycamore canyon, Alexander Mitchell of the northwest, and by the host of the day, Mr. Sherer, who explained that his home is part of the original Verdugo homestead of 200 acres, the ranch house having stood across the road. He also gave an interesting account of water development from the old-time water hole to the present system.

G. A. Gallagher, of North Jackson street, motored to San Diego yesterday to see the eclipse today.
